INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

The fund seeks long-term growth of capital through investments primarily in the common stocks of large-cap companies throughout the world, including the U.S.

Investing in at least five different countries, including the U.S., the fund targets blue chip companies.

It takes a growth approach to investing, seeking opportunities that have potential for above-average earnings.

BENEFITS AND RISKS

The fund is broadly diversified across international markets, which can help reduce volatility relative to funds that concentrate on a particular region or country. Diversification cannot assure a profit or protect against loss in a declining market.

Since the fund invests overseas, its foreign holdings could be affected by declining foreign currencies or adverse political or economic events.

The fund's growth approach carries risk: Because growth funds have higher valuations and lower dividend yields than slower-growth or cyclical companies, the share price volatility may be higher. As such, fund prices could decline further in market downturns than those of non growth-oriented funds.

Current performance may be higher or lower than the quoted past performance, which cannot guarantee future results. Share price, principal value, and return will vary, and you may have a gain or loss when you sell your shares. The performance information shown does not reflect the deduction of any redemption fee; if it did, the performance would be lower. To obtain the most recent month-end performance, or to request a prospectus or summary prospectus, which includes investment objectives, risks, fees, expenses, and other information that you should read and consider carefully before investing, please contact a T. Rowe Price representative at 1-855-405-6488. The T. Rowe Price fund shares the portfolio of an existing fund (the original share class of the fund is referred to as the "investor class"). The total return figures for this I Class have been calculated using the performance data of the Investor Class up to the inception date of the I Class (3/6/17) and the actual performance results of the I Class since that date. Because the I Classes are expected to have lower expenses than the Investor Classes, the I Class performance, had it existed over the periods shown, would have been higher. The average annual total return figures include changes in principal value, reinvested dividends, and capital gain distributions.

Effective July 1, 2018, the "net version of the benchmark replaced the "gross" version of the benchmark. The "net" version of the benchmark assumes the reinvestment of dividends after the deduction of withholding taxes.

Definitions

Beta: A measure of market risk of an investment option that shows how responsive the investment is to a given market index, such as the Standard & Poor's 500 Index. By definition, the beta of the benchmark is 1.00. An investment with a beta of 1.10 is expected to perform 10% better than the index in up markets and 10% worse in down markets. Usually, higher betas represent riskier investments.
